

There is a channel cahnge button and an off switch on most TV's. It a person thinks tha the show in not right for them or others in their family then the can turn it off or change the channel> do not let other individuals detremine what others, who they dont know, what is going to be shown or what is going to be watched